About Me

When it comes to wedding photography or videography I am very passionate which is why I give my all at every wedding I am honoured to be a part of.

Your wedding is a very special and magical day and it is my responsibility as a professional to capture that day as it unfolds in a way only a true professional photographer can do.

When choosing your photographer you have to be sure that he or she is the right person for you. I see your images and wedding album as an investment and something to be treasured forever and passed on to future generations so that they can enjoy and re-live those moments for years to come.

Photographing your wedding

Every wedding is different and as its own unique opportunity to capture something special. At the start of the day I begin by photographing the bridal preparations. Such as the dress, the shoes, perfume, jewellery and natural shots of the bride and bridesmaids getting ready and having fun. These are great images and memories the family and groom would otherwise never see.

The next set of images are some of my personal favourites. They are the full length portraits of the bride when she has her dress on proper for the first time and her hair and makeup complete. This is when the bride will feel like a million dollars more than any other part of the day.

Then after this I make my way to meet the groom and grooms-men to do some candid and natural group shots and individual photos of each of them and contrary to belief and what ever they tell you girls, the guys love this LOL ;-)

Then the serious stuff starts with the brides arrival and ceremony itself. As well as the photographing this part I use this time to photograph the guests and any other things I feel will help tell the story as it unfolds. During the ceremony I love to photograph those special moments like the eye to eye contact between bride and groom, the ring exchange, the kiss and guests expressions. It is important to discuss with the venue, registrants or the vicar what you are allowed to photograph during this period. In my experience most are quite accommodating in allowing the professional photographer to do his job.

After the ceremony we move on to the formal group photos which include the family, bridal party, and several other group shots including parents, bridesmaids and grooms men etc. Then if allowed I do a confetti shot which is great fun and very traditional. All of this will be discussed with you before the wedding along with other details including timings etc.

After the group shots we move on to the part of the day I love which is doing personal photos with the couple alone. We wander off together around the venue looking for pretty places with lovely natural light to take some romantic, relaxing and natural images. This is something couples really enjoy as it gives them some time to themselves as husband and wife. I like this period to be about an hour long because it is something to be savoured and not rushed.

OK now its time to leave you to enjoy time with your family and friends and to enjoy the reception and your meal. At this stage I will be taking break myself before getting ready to photograph the speeches. Speeches usually take place before the meal but sometimes after. Then its waiting for the evening to begin and when I will take photos of the cake cuttin, the first dance and the guests enjoying themselves before saying bon voyage as my work will be done.

please note: the above is based on a full coverage wedding

After the wedding

After the wedding all the photos are backed up and then the process of culling and editing the images begins. This can take several weeks as it is quite a lengthy process and requires precise editing techniques to produce excellent quality photographs ready for printing. When complete you will be given a private password protected link to view all you images online.

If your package includes a wedding album this will be pre designed for you and presented online so you can view it and decide if you want to make any changes. This process makes it so much easier for as you get an idea and a feel of what your album will look like rather than randomly choosing images and not really knowing or understanding how the album will turn out. As a professional photographer and album designer I will pick the images i feel will best tell the story of the day but you can of course change the images around or swap them until you are both 100% happy. Then the album is sent away to a bespoke album company for production. The build and delivery process normally takes about two to three weeks . I then give things a final check before presenting it to you.

Couples can book me for either my photography or videography based on my package options above. However, you can have both combined. So how does this work? First of all, you need a team of two professionals working in harmony to provide the best quality for your wedding. I work alongside an excellent and very respected videographer called Brian Wheatley who is an independent videographer with many years' experience who also runs his own successful videography business. You can visit his website at www.midlandsweddingvideo.com to view his work and portfolio.. I will communicate with Brian on your behalf and check his availability. Then Brian will then give you a quick call, at a suitable time, for an informal chat about videoing your wedding. He can send you a sample dvd of his work to view at your leisure.
